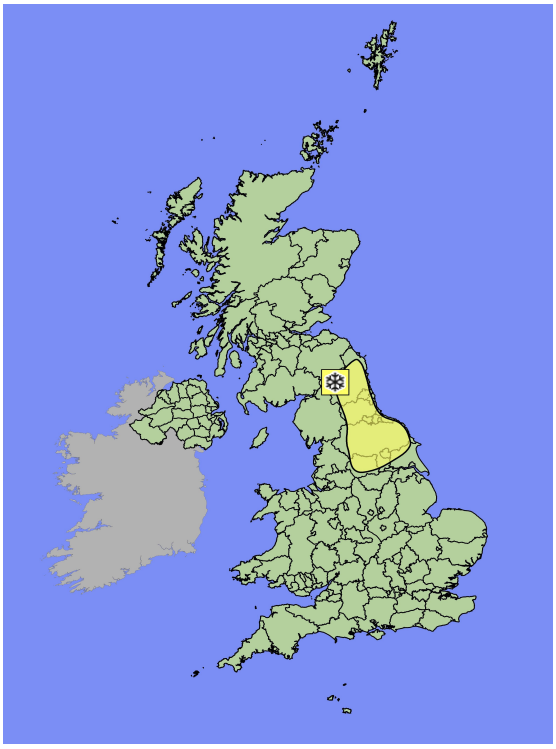
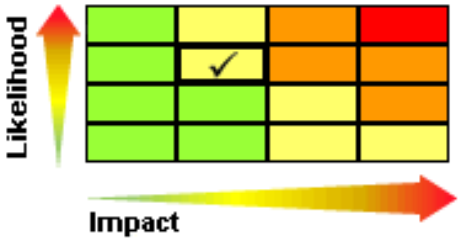
National Severe Weather Warning Service





Chief Forecasters Assessment
There is an increasing risk of showers becoming heavier and more frequent across northeastern areas of England during Saturday morning. The showers will fall as snow inland, but rain or sleet near the coast.

The Met Office have issued a Yellow Warning of Snow

Valid from 03:00 on Sat, 23rd Feb 2013 until 15:00 on Sat, 23rd Feb 2013

Snow showers will become more frequent and heavier during Saturday morning, easing again from the east during the course of the afternoon. Accumulations of snow will be very variable, but falls of 2-5 cm are likely in places with as much as 8 cm over northeast facing hills.

The public should be aware of the risk of disruption to travel
